TASWAY
ENERGY PARK

Aukera is bringing forward proposals for Tasway Energy Park, a new solar and battery energy project in South Norfolk. We are holding a public consultation to share more detailed information about the project and invite your views.

These events will provide more detail on the proposed site layout, potential environmental considerations, the project programme, future engagement, and how the land could be used to enhance biodiversity. Feedback gathered will be used to inform the next stage of project development.

You are invited to attend our public consultation events to meet the project team, view the plans, and provide feedback:
